DR. GORDIE JONES

Dr. Jones is a globally acclaimed expert on cow facility design, as the designer of Fair Oaks Farms' infamous Indiana dairy with 20,000 cows on several sites, and a consultant for dairy operations the world over.

Jones currently lives in De Pere, WI. He attended Michigan State University, receiving both his bachelor of dairy science and doctorate of veterinary medicine degrees. He practiced in Wisconsin for 22 years, and then joined the Monsanto team for 3 years. Today, Dr. Jones is a partner at the 4,000 cow Central Sands Dairy in Nekoosa, Wis. He now speaks and consults to help producers focus on keeping cows at peak production, or "Finding Lost Milk: Management, Facility and Cow Comfort Measures to optimize production on your dairy."
